Nobis Hotel's breakfast

Stefano Catenacci, Gastronomic Director for the Nobis group

“In recent years Sweden has been recognized as one of the great culinary nations of the world. This is thanks to all the small-scale farmers and producers here in Sweden that put a local and organic touch to their products. The fact is that Sweden has never tasted better.

Swedish breakfast is a tradition that I have fallen in love with. We have all heard that breakfast is the most important meal of the day. This has resulted in a richly varied, tasteful and nutritious start to the day.

This is what I wanted to capture with Nobis hotel's breakfast - a great start to the day with Swedish locally produced products. Organic oatmeal, milk, yoghurt, cheeses from Allerum, fine sausages and hams, honey, my own muesli and lots of other carefully chosen goodies served in the form of a sumptuous buffet.

The local products are complemented by innovative Proviva's range of designed products that provides a healthy energy boost in the morning.

The breakfast at Nobis Hotel will change over time and with each season. I will continue my search of interesting products around the country. The treasures I find will end up on your breakfast plate in the future.

Breakfast is ready, welcome!”
